

Edmund Quincy's last note to W.L.G.
He died just two weeks later.
May 17.

Dorham, May 9.
[1877.]

Dear Garrison:

59 I have received a letter from Deborah Webb asking me to contribute to a Festival of money to Marcus R. Robinson.

I have forgotten all about him, excepting that he was Editor of the Salem, O. paper.
How did he behave at the time of the great Spectacle?

Did he desert to the Phillipians or hold fast by the Garrison?

You who remember all things relating to the Perseverance of the Saints and the backsliding of the Pious, can answer their queries I doubt not,

I am always affectionately

Edmund Quincy.
